Korsun, Last Big Nazi Base on Upper Dnieper, Threatened

Groups of Germans, Cut Off from Main Forces, Reported To Be in Wild Confusion.

MOSCOW, Feb. 12.—The Russian army is fighting at the approaches of Korsun, last big center of resistance of the encircled Germans in the Upper Dnieper bend and "expectations for their extermination are coming to their logical conclusion," Red Star declared today.

The dispatch reported wild confusion within separate groups of Nazis isolated from the main body of the trapped enemy as the Red army drove its spearheads into their wavering tanks despite the blinding mist and lack of roads.

A final, desperate attempt by 11 Junker transport planes to reach the encircled Germans was frustrated when Soviet artillery dominated the area blew the planes to pieces when they landed in an open field within the Chernyakhiv line. Remnants of some 100,000 Nazi troops are being liquidated in the Chernyakhiv area.

NAZIS SEIZE POPE'S PALACE

Allied Headquarters Say Summer Home Now Subject to Bomb Attacks.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Feb. 12.—Allied headquarters today announced that the Germans had installed themselves in the papal palace grounds at Castel Gandolfo south of Rome and that the premises therefore were subject to allied bombing.

The allied headquarters announcement said Castel Gandolfo, the Pope's summer home, now lies in the battle area and contains a heavy saturation of German soldiers. Whenever vital enemy targets appear they will be necessarily be bombed.

(On Thursday the Vatican city radio said Castel Gandolfo, 15 miles from Vatican city and 25 miles inland from Anzio, had been bombed for the third time. The dispatch said other Vatican property also had been bombed.

Yesterday, Transocean German propaganda agency, declared 500 persons were killed in the bombing at Castel Gandolfo.

(The Vatican report indicated the papal palace itself was not bombed.

(A Berlin broadcast today said Pope Pius "protested against this new violation of neutral territory."

(The British foreign office in London said it had received no protest up to today.)

There was no official information here whether any bombs were known to have fallen in the palace grounds in the Thursday raids on German communications and troop concentrations.

Castel Gandolfo is about 10 miles from the perimeter of the allied beachhead, and is on one of the main roads the Germans are using to send troops and supplies to the front.

Trained Dogs Share Battle Dangers with Marines and Save Many Lives

By The Associated Press

WELAND, Feb. 12.—Mention "dog" does to a Marine in the Pacific today and 10 to one will think you're talking war-hardened canine today.

The first Marine dog platoon—including 21 Doberman and three German shepherds—landed with the first wave of troops at Empress bay on Bougainville island last Nov.

The dogs have been in the front line since they landed, and have been in the front line since they landed, and have been in the front line since they landed.

Trained To Be Silent

They were trained not to bark and thus give away Marine positions. Instead, the dogs advanced with their handlers, detecting the enemy by prying up their ears.

NEW RENT EXAMINER ARRANGING SURVEY

Inspectors To Check All Marion Houses.

John S. Radebaugh of Columbus has been named rent examiner for Marion county, and will help conduct a check in Marion by federal inspectors to enforce compliance of the rent control law requiring all landlords and rooming house-apartment owners to report their rental properties at the local rationing office at 169½ East Center street, OPA officials in Columbus announced today.

Mr. Radebaugh is a Columbus resident and will come to Marion only once a week on Thursdays. Mrs. Mildred Bradley of Marion, employed at the county rationing office, will look after rent matters here on other days.

Mr. Radebaugh will be regularly in the Columbus office and serves Newark also on a part-time basis.

In announcing plans for the rent check-up here officials said the object of the survey is not to see how many violators can be caught and punished but to see to it that the rent regulations are applied to all landlords alike.

A small minority of landlords have ignored the rent "freeze" regulations and have neglected to register as required, it was explained. Inspectors will canvass every street and check every house to make certain that no rental units are overlooked.

In a similar survey in Columbus, more than 100 registrations resulted the first day, officials said.

Rent regulations have been administered in Marion through the rationing office for several weeks since the rent office formerly in charge of John K. Barrum was closed.

Attack on Invasion Area Continued for 40th Time in Last 54 Days.

By The Associated Press

LEONIX, Feb. 12.—American Liberators swept over the French invasion coast near Pass-De-Calais in strength today, continuing the pounding of Nazi defenses which has been going on relentlessly during 40 of the last 54 days.

Opening a daylight assault with a cover of Thunderbolts and Mustangs, the Liberators carried out the 13th mission of the American air force in the last 16 days in the wake of yesterday's heavy Fortress blow at Frankfurt and a Moscow mission by the RAF over western and central Germany last night.

Shortly after the Liberators struck, RAF fighters and other allied formations winged out to follow up the initial daylight sorties that began with the dawn.

200 Nazis Raid England

The Mosquito, conducting their seventh operation of the month returned without loss, while the RAF's heavy armadas continued to be blanketed by bad weather which has kept them grounded since their last major assault on Berlin Jan. 30.

Meanwhile, crossed the northeast British coast last night and dropped a few bombs in London and on a southeastern town. The four raiders, reaching London, killed a few persons.

The air ministry communiqué did not name the objectives hit by the night-flying Mosquitos.

The first of the daylight formations went in the direction of Boulogne followed shortly by others heading toward the Pas-De-Calais invasion coast area. Both bombers and fighters were included.

The new blow followed on the heels of strong blows yesterday by U. S. heavy bombers against Frankfurt and the invasion coast.

Nazis Lose 37 Planes

Thirty-seven Nazi planes were downed yesterday as American fighters made the greatest number of sorties ever flown from British bases. Five U. S. bombers and 12 fighters, one of them British, were lost.

An undivided number of Thunderbolts, Mustangs and Mustangs—probably more than 700—supported the heavy bombers.

Fortresses yesterday also struck at unpermitted objectives in Germany while U. S. Liberators and Mustangs and RAF and RAAF Mosquitos linked at the French invasion coast.

COLD WAVE LINGERS, MAY EASE MONDAY

Marion residents faced the second day of real old-fashioned winter weather when they awoke to near zero temperatures this morning. The heavy fall of snow abated on most of Ohio today but there was no respite from a severe cold wave that swept across the state last night, an Associated Press dispatch reported today.

The weatherman said the worst of the present cold wave would be over by Monday, the dispatch stated in the meantime, however, he forecast temperatures tonight would drop to five below in the northern portion of the state and to five above in the extreme south, with the mercury hitting zero in central areas.

The temperature in Marion dropped to 5 above last night.

The city's main thoroughfares took on a boulevard effect yesterday when a new system of riding the streets of the snow was inaugurated by Service Director John V. Ruth. A road grader was put into service and the snow cleared from the gutters and piled into the center of the streets, thereby serving the double purpose of providing a clear space for parking and assuring cars of a "get-away" with out danger of stalling, and making it easier to load the snow on city trucks to be hauled away.

Because of a shortage of manpower it is expected the accumulated snow will not be removed as quickly as city officials would like. Today the remainder of the downtown streets were to be cleared in the same way.

Yonsters will have an opportunity to enjoy the snow with the closing of traffic of State street, hill from Gentry avenue to Columbus street today and Sunday.

This gave them a two-day total of $19,091.50, a figure that brought expressions of pleasure from Fourth War Loan leaders and a compliment from the drive chairman, Robert E. White. "If we all responded like the school boys and girls, these drives would take care of themselves," he declared.

GERMANS TURN GUNS ON HOSPITAL Area, Kill 2 More U. S. Nurses

By RYLANDS PACKARD

Representing the Combined American Press

(Distributed by The Associated Press)

AT THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD IN ITALY, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Two Red Cross nurses were killed last night by German shells which hit a hospital area, increasing to 16 the number of American women who have died in this beachhead campaign.

Four died as a result of Monday's air bombing of a hospital, two nurses being killed outright and a nurse and a Red Cross worker succumbing later of wounds.

The four shells struck between 8:30 and 9:45 p. m. The last landed in the road before the hospital tent, the second hit the receiving tent, and the third two planes and a large one on the ground.

The two nurses were providing support in their own tent. Strapped to the ground, they were killed.

No other deaths resulted, but four medical officers and three enlisted men were wounded.

In the attacks on the two hospitals, the German shells were fired from a battery of 88 mm. guns.

C. & O. "Sportsman" Delayed by Breakdown

The Chesapeake & Ohio "Sportsman" passenger train was stranded about three hours near Owens Station early this morning when its locomotive threw a slide rod—the big arm connected to one of the drive wheels. Aside from the delay for the passengers aboard and for the exposure to near-zero temperatures, no serious consequences were reported.

When the slide rod flew off, it snapped off a pipe that let all of the steam out of the locomotive, completely disabling it. Another locomotive from Marion brought the train into Marion and took it to Toledo, leaving the disabled locomotive near Owens to be moved later.

A Columbus train crew was aboard the train. It ordinarily gets into Marion about 3:37 a. m. but this morning arrived about 7 a. m.

Marion Co. Soldier Helps Build Airfield at Anzio Beachhead

Sgt. Clyde Freshour Works Under Fire To Help Provide New Invasion Forces with Fighter Plane Base.

A Marion county soldier, Sgt. Clyde Freshour of near LaRue, participated in view of the fierce battle raging all over the beachhead area near Rome as one of the aviators seeking to drive the invaders into the sea.

Sgt. Freshour played an important part in getting the beachhead airfield in a shape to help the United Nations. He piloted Nov. 13, 1941, has been waging the terrific struggle now overseas since June of 1942, participating in the African and Sicilian invasions and entered Italy other dispatch Feb. 1 as having with an engineer company soon witnessed the new Anzio invasion after the initial landings on Jan. 22, watching the big operations from a boat off the coast.

The complete text of the new story written by Associated Press writer Dixon on the Anzio beachhead in Italy on Jan. 29 follows:

GERMAN FORCE HALTED, ALLIED LINES HOLDING

Americans Make New Gains in Desperate Struggle in Cassino.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, ALGIERS, Feb. 12.—Allied warships thundered into action have helped repulse a new German assault on the down-swept invasion beachhead below Rome, and a headquarters officer declared today despite Nazi pressure the front line there have "remained relatively unchanged during the past few days."

On the Cassino front to the east, American forces made new gains in bitter struggles within that town, and to the west drove within a mile of the Via Cassino, only German counterattacks.

Rain, snow, sleet and gales cancelled allied air blows against the Germans, leaving the Germans free to move up troops and supplies barred only by naval and land artillery bombardment.

The single Nazi attack yesterday was being unavailingly repulsed by American troops west of Cassino, headquarters said, where fighting continues.

Beachhead Still Secure

CHS Correspondent John Daly said this morning that "after four anxious days, the cure of the allied beachhead below Rome remains secure."

The German communique broadcast by the Italian Nazi radio broke up heavy allied tank attacks against "new German lines near Anzio," knocking out 17 tanks.

The gains by American troops in bitter fighting in Cassino included the fall which the Germans had converted into one of their main fortresses. The Germans are retreating there no longer.

Three thousand Germans have been captured on the beachhead and on the main front in the last week, for a total of 15,000 have taken since the invasion of Italy began last September, headquarters announced.

In the Gargano sector west of Cassino the Germans put in a determined local attack against the British near Mt. Ornito, three miles northeast of Cassino.

The fact that no German attacks of great intensity or extent were launched on the beachhead yesterday may have resulted from the terrific allied air blows on the previous morning before had any other set in.

It also is possible the Germans already may have spent their offensive strength against the beachhead. As yet they have not made any general breakthrough since the Fifth Army into the sea.

Heavy units of the British first poured explosives on German concentrations near the beachhead area.

Gales Sweep Battlefield

Forty-five mile gales were reported sweeping the battlefield, however, holding air activity to a minimum.

Had weather also hampered unloading of supplies.

On the Eighth army front across Italy, German raiding parties were repulsed with losses.

"On all fronts operations were impeded by rain, snow and sleet," the communique said.

Streaming close to shore in support of the beachhead army, several British vessels, including the 8,000-ton British cruiser Mauritius and the 5,450-ton British cruiser Dido, shelled the Germans as they attacked the allies.

The British radio, quoting from reports, said early today allied troops advanced slightly at two points in the Carroccio area in sectors where the German counter-attacks have been strongest.

A dispatch from Norman Clark, representing the combined British press, said allied troops returned to the attack yesterday morning and "are fighting again in the area of the battle-scarred red brick buildings of Carroccio."

The Germans yesterday claimed capture of the Carroccio railroad station.

On the main Fifth army front American tanks continued to blast the Germans out of sniper nests in the shell-torn houses of Cassino, where a non-quarter battle has been raging for 11 days.

A dispatch said last night allied artillerymen were throwing shells after shell at Montecassino, laying a necklace of steel around the hill, 100 yards below the famed monastery. Gunners were still carefully avoiding the abbey, although officers said it definitely was being used by the Germans as an observation post.

All Are Brothers

A Sermonette
By REV. E. H. WERTH
Pastor of First Evangelical and Reformed Church

Texts: "He hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth." Acts 17:26.
"And God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him." Genesis 1:27.

"So then brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh; for if ye live after the flesh, ye must die; but if by the Spirit ye put to death the deeds of the body, ye shall live. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God these are the sons of God."

OURS is predominantly a materialistic age. The real, the eternal, the spiritual, the immortal, that which we can feel and love and understand, that which we can see and touch, that which we can hear and taste, that which we can smell, we live by the senses and men are a white body of a black skin. We work for that bread, spirit or a brown or a yellow skin. We fight for it, we die for it.

To be sure this foundation of materialism upon which we have built our civilization is crumbling under the very feet. We aimed to live by it and now we are all over the world, dying by it. We aimed to become rich by it and now we are increasingly becoming poorer by it. We meant to be our glory and it turns out to be our degradation.

Such is the end of the people of Babylon—the people who have constructed their civilization upon the false foundation of the real of the material.

CHRISTIANITY holds the very opposite doctrine. It says that "the spirit giveth life." "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him." And certainly God is not material. God is spirit and life, and man is exactly like him, being created in his image. Man is spirit.

Accordingly those devilish distinctions which men have emphasized in relation to their fellow-

O. W. U. Dean On CHURCH NEWS TOLD IN BRIEF

"Post - War World" Program Sunday

JOSEPH J. SOMERVILLE

Joseph J. Somerville, dean of men at Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, will be the speaker for the first in a series of union meetings on "Build up a Christian Post-War World" to be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the First Presbyterian church. The meeting was originally scheduled for the United Brethren church but because of the large audience which have attended previous sessions it was necessary to move it to the Presbyterian church.

Dean Somerville's topic will be "The Place of Russia in the Peace." He came to Ohio Wesleyan as dean of men in 1935 after spending more than 20 years in Y.M.C.A. work. From 1925 to 1928 he was in Czechoslovakia, from 1928 to 1933 worked with prisoners of war in Germany and Latvia, and between 1916 and 1920 spent most of his time in Russia and Siberia in the government intelligence service. A native of Indiana, he was graduated from Brazil high school and De Pauw university. He has a master's degree in public law from Columbia university.

Rev. Garrison Ruebeck, pastor of the First United Brethren church, will preside at the worship service. D. T. Mills, county superintendent of schools, will be chairman for the forum period following the address.

SENATE HEARS PLEA FOR PRISONER AID

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 — Wives, mothers and fathers of Americans held prisoners of war by the Japanese pleaded before the senate military committee yesterday for promotions and automatic insurance for them and that aid somehow be gotten to the boys.

Among those who testified was Dr. H. Spencer, Albuquerque, N. M., elected yesterday as president of Federated Organizations for Bataan Relief.

Senator Chavez (D-N.M.), author of a bill to provide promotions for American prisoners of war in the Philippines, asked the committee to hear the group.

Mrs. Cuyler Bigger of Atlanta, Ga., whose husband was a captain with the 27th bomber group, declared these men saved the west coast from a bombing, and saved Australia, and it is only fair that some recognition be given them.

But most important of all, she said, is getting relief to the prisoners.

Meanwhile, the state department released the story of its Jan. 27 protests to the Japanese government in which this nation demanded Japan "immediately take note of the charges" and "take immediate steps to raise the treatment accorded American nationals held by Japan to the standard provided by the Geneva Prisoners of war convention."

Assistant Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius said at a news conference that the Swiss government, through which the protests were sent, has confirmed delivery of the messages to the Tokyo government.

Senator Thomas (D-Utah) said today relief supplies intended for American prisoners of war are piling up in Russia, stalled at the threshold of Japan by the diplomatic red tape Tokyo has used to prevent their delivery.

Demurrer Overruled in Crow Estate Suit

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., Feb. 12—Judge Arthur D. Tudor today overruled the demurrer of George C. Kreinbuhl, Ridgeway, and the First National Bank of Lima, executors for the estate of the late Judge Phil M. Crow, which sought to dismiss the $400,000 damage action brought for the State of Ohio by Attorney Carlos A. Faulkner of this city. Faulkner alleged that Judge Crow wrongfully received expense monies from the state during most of his 30-year term on the appeals bench, and asked $400,000 for actual and punitive damages. No date has been set for the trial.

Bothered with Clinkers Forming In Your Furnace? These Tips May Help

Clinkers are simply melted coal. They are necessary in the clinking type of domestic stoker but bothersome in hand-fired equipment. The type of clinker likely to cause trouble is one that forms in a flat sheet over the grate of the equipment. This type is mentioned by Mr. L. H. of P. Wayne, Indiana:

"We have a house containing five rooms downstairs and two rooms up. We do not heat two rooms upstairs most of the time. We have a cast-iron, warm-air furnace which is 24 inches in diameter. Every once in a while the furnace gets so it won't heat and when I run a poker in through the fuel bed I find a flat clinker covering a good part of the grates. We are using a good, high-grade Kentucky coal and don't believe we should have clinkers with it. Will these clinkers do any harm other than cut off the air so that the fire doesn't burn well and is there any way we can stop them forming? The cover of the weather outside doesn't seem to have any effect on making them form, yet we will have clinkers in mild weather and not have them in cold weather."

Another effect of clinkers forming on the grates in a hand-fired plant, in addition to cutting down the draft, is that they tend to let the grates overheat and thus cause them to burn out sooner than they would normally.

The most likely cause for coal clinking at odd intervals is because garbage, tin cans, glass jars and bottles are thrown into the fire. If large amounts of garbage or bottles are thrown in at a time, for example a week's accumulations, this is almost certain to cause clinkers to form. The place will melt so that it will cause clinkers also. We suggest that if garbage must be burned, it be burned in small amounts and that a large accumulation not be burned at one time. In those districts where tin cans are salvaged, they should be washed and flattened for salvage. If not, they should be put into the ash can and not into the fire. The same thing is true of bottles and glass jars.

Ash will not clinker extensively if the temperature in the firebox is not allowed to get higher than the fusion point of the ash. In other words, a roaring, hot fire, such as some people use in the mornings to heat the home quickly, will cause ash to clinker.

If you are bothered with clinkers, that is, the flat variety mentioned above, try firing by the

O. P. A. Bulletin says:

If you have used more than 54% of your fuel you will run short!

On January 24th, 1944, an official O.P.A. bulletin stated that homeowners in this vicinity will not be able to get through the winter on their fuel oil allotment if they have used more than 54% by that date. It points out that there is still a lot of cold weather to come during February, March and April, and urges everyone to make their house heat-tight without delay. Whether you burn oil, coal, or gas, we recommend that you—

Keep Your Home in Good Condition for HOME DEFENSE

THE GARDEN CLINIC

By VICTOR H. RIES
D. S. U. Extension Floriculturist.

Q. Are the fruits of my flowering quince good to eat?—Mrs. T. G. P., Cincinnati, O.

A. The quince of your flowering quince are just as good to eat as the regular cultivated quince. Some prefer them for making quince jelly or preserves.

Q. A friend of mine has a beautiful vine which she calls porcelain ivy. It grows very vigorously with nice foliage and during late summer and fall is covered with little clusters of berries some of which are purple and others turquoise blue. Can you tell me how I can get a start of this vine?

A. The porcelain ivy is an old fashioned vine which is not seldom used, consequently, there are many nurseries which do not carry it. However, any nursery should be able to get it for you from their source of supply. If you can not purchase one, you will find it grows very easily from seed. If you will remove the seeds from the berries now and plant the seeds in the ground out-of-doors, everyone will grow and give you a little vine one foot or more in height next season. After that, it will really start growing. Quite often as with other fruit vines, you may be able to find some seedlings growing around the base of the parent plant.

Building Quiz

Q: Our house is steam heated and we use a coal which is supposed to burn clean, yet our outside walls are all smudged where the radiators are located. What causes this? Can you suggest a remedy?

A: Fine particles of dust are carried upward by the heat of the radiator, and since heat has a tendency to go through to the cold side of the outside wall, dust will be deposited on the surface. Frequent dusting of the door area near and under the radiator and the radiator itself should help keep the wall in a cleaner condition. The coal has nothing to do with smudging.

the two teams' initial meeting last month called for a flip-of-the-coin pregame-tossing tactics.

St. Mary emerged victorious in its first battle with Dick Pettit's Roughwood quintet but not until after a 20-minute intermission. Afterward, the game had been given an exceedingly close call. The final score read 29 to 28. St. Mary's way, and the difference between the two squads wasn't even that noticeable. The game was very much in question until five seconds before the final buzzer.

Ordinary travel.

Cancellation of the game was first announced yesterday afternoon when it became apparent that there would be no marked let-up in the "no-go" law. However, it was not until after school was dismissed yesterday afternoon that the "no go" word was received from Shelby.

Tickets bought for last night's Athletics and Tigers street. However, only eight to 10 tickets rationed to St. Mary's students, had been sold. The remaining 42 tickets would have been offered to Harding part of the game last night, Mr. Pettit said.

winning the victory in the last five seconds. Richwood took a 12 to 5 lead at the first-quarter post but St. Mary surged back to go ahead, 17-12, at halftime. The Tigers' defense was not as good as Philadelphia and Detroit share the leadership in the American league's contribution of baseball players to the armed forces.

Of the 195 players in service, 33 are former members of the Athletics and an equal number were on the Tigers' roster.

Center, Jim Lawler, led the Chicago team to triumph in the first Rich-game with 14 points on five baskets and a free throw. Forward
Fish led Richmond with 13 markers consisting of six baskets and one free loss.

Richwood appears a shade stronger than they were for their first meeting with St. Mary. The Tigers have snared six Union county league wins in succession, putting them on top of that loop. St. Mary's JayVees likewise won out over a Richwood team last month, beating the Tiger reserves, 35 to 26. The Irish understudies have won seven out of ten starts this year.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I DREW a quick breath as Carolyn's answer, forced by her brother's situation, came from her fluttering throat.

"Big Tony," she said, was the younger man at the other table, the man who was protecting Marion from the other man's rough treatment. And I knew now why Marion had flinched at the younger man's protective air even more, that she had at the rough, painful trip of her wrist to watch the other man had subjected her when he had accused her of knowing him.

For "Big Tony"—yes, he must be the same Tony who—but I must make certain first.

I turned to Carolyn slowly. "You must tell me the truth, Carolyn," I said. "Is this Big Tony—the same one who was on that trip to Maryland with Marion and you and Helen?"

Her eyes were blazing as she looked at me.

"Is this fair?" she demanded. "Do you have to bring that up now before the trial? Couldn't you have asked me by myself?"

"I'm sorry, Carolyn," I said, and meant it, for my quizzing was a crux. I knew, but I simply can't help questioning you, for I must know who this man is. But I will put as few questions to you as I can."

I waited for two or three seconds, then Donald said gently but firmly:

"Answer Aunt Madge, Carol."

She gave a sighing breath, then said faintly, "Yes, he's the one."

"And when we took you down to the hideaway that time, and Rico told you that you must get in touch with Tony—is this the man he meant?"

"Yes," she faltered, "but"—her voice rose nervously—"I didn't get in touch with him."

"Keep your voice down!" I admonished her sharply. "Of course you didn't. We are well aware of that, although he tried to get in touch with you."

"Up at college, you mean?" she asked, suddenly forgetting her resentment in sheer childish curiosity.

"Yes," I replied. "You were so well guarded he couldn't get near you. And that is all for now, Carolyn, except—do you know any of the other three people at this table?"

"No, I am sure I never saw any of them before," she said.

"Then you do not need to worry," I told her. "I have no more questions. Please, all of you, keep on talking. I want to think some things out."

I pretended to play with the food on my plate, but I never had felt less like eating. If I suddenly had seen a silly snake coiled on the floor in front of me, I could not have felt a more
